Commission Meeting Classed As Routine

The Coffee County Commissioners met in a regular meeting on August 28, 1974 at the Elba Courthouse at 10:00 a.m. The following were present: Commissioners O. V. Waters, J. A. Dyess, Flournoy Whitman, Bennie Beckham, Don Smith, and Byron Galloway; Probate Judge James L. Sawyer, County Engineer O'Neal Ham, and Edward Johnson, clerk of the Commissioner's Court.

The Sheriff's Department requested money from the County Commission to buy contraband whiskey in order to make an arrest. The commissioners were all in favor of granting this request.

WHISKEY MONEY

The Sheriff's Department requested money from the County Commission to buy contraband whiskey in order to make an arrest. The commissioners were all in favor of granting this request.

BALL TO ATTEND

The Commission was requested to send a representative to a meeting on the Emergency Health Act which was held in Dalton on August 28th, 1974. It was decided that the commission would ask Mr. Kenneth Ball, Health Administrative Assistant, to attend the meeting as representative for the Coffee County Commission and give them a report. Mr. Ball came in during the meeting and said that he would honor their request.

COURTHOUSE REPAIRS

After much discussion as to what action to take in getting the repair work done to the Elba Courthouse which the Grand Jury determined was necessary, Mr. Don Smith was given the task of securing a carpenter to look over the repair work to be done. Mr. Smith and the carpenter will work out specific repair instructions for the work to be let on at the next meeting.

NEW SHERIFF'S CAR

The Sheriff's Department requested that the commission buy a new car for the department, as they had a car with over 100,000 miles on which they had numerous large repair bills. After a short discussion, Mr. Dyess and Mr. Whitman were asked to check on the repair bills, and report on the matter at the next meeting.

BIDS REFUSED

Bids were opened on a motor vehicle (1974) for the Police Academy. On a motion by Bennie Beckham seconded by Mr. Galloway, the commission voted to reject the one bid they received from Harley Davidson of Dothan. The bid amount was $3,361.30.

TRUCK PURCHASES

The Commission opened bids on a 1 1/2 ton 1974 truck for the Highway Department. The bids were as follows: Dismuke Ford of Enterprise, $4,866.64; Cook Chevrolet of Elba, $4,567.11; and Dowling Truck and Tractor Co. of Enterprise, $4,800.00. The commission awarded the bid to Dowling Truck and Tractor of Enterprise on a motion by Don Smith seconded by Byron Galloway.

BRAINSTORMS

With Forth Cox

We published a picture of a streaker this week in an ad for Tom's Drive In. When two of the lads were working, they were making the picture and making up the ad—they fell in love with the little streaker! Kristi Oggs, daughter of Butch and Marsha Oggs apparently is a very co-operative model. Thank you Kristi on behalf of all of us.

I have fished all my life I reckon—beginning with a switch of a bush complete with a hook and line. However, it is mighty nice to have friends who are more productive with their fishing than I am. I have a national hobby when we retire—because of my heroic deed! I guess maybe they could give him my GI Bill benefits since I never have used any of them.

Last week I commented on President Ford's proposal to let the draft dodgers come home. Surprisingly one of the draft dodgers, now in Canada, is against the plan. Apparently he wants a parade and a national holiday when he returns—because of his heroic deed! I guess maybe they could give him my GI Bill benefits since I never have used any of them.

In case you have not had any dealings with Deputy Sheriff Ray Norris lately you probably don't know that he is now Chief Deputy Ray Norris. Ray will still be doing the same job, just getting more pay. Coffee County has been without a chief deputy since Neil Grantham resigned to make his successful race for the Democratic nomination for sheriff.

I noticed the new uniforms of the Elba Tiger football team last week. They sure are pretty. It will probably take one of these super washing machines and some of that washing powder that works miracles once the boys have played a game on some of the muddy ball fields they are bound to see this Fall. Right now the uniforms look sharp enough for wearing to church or on a date when the boys want to impress someone with his fancy dress!

Had a long talk with Harry Jacobs Monday night. Harry is down on politicians, inflation, lazy people, etc. First he thinks ALL politicians are crooks—this he mellowed some by saying "Well maybe there is an honest one somewhere." Then he blames our government for the increasing cost of living. Maybe government is to be blamed for lazy people, says Harry. The shortages of gas, paper, etc., he blames on US, you, me and himself. Says we have come to think we have to have everything we can think of, and not the necessities our parents thrived on without crying. The opinion of Harry Jacobs is typical of the average American. We are confused and not sure what is the cause of our problems.

Commission

Waters and seconded by Don Smith. The motion passed on a vote of 10-0 in favor of the commission. Mr. Byron Galloway left the room and did not vote. Commissioner O. V. Waters, requested, that due to the late hour, the commission be adjourned. The commission voted to hire William B. Galloway to work at the landfill. This motion was made by O. V. Waters.

"SOME ADDITIONAL BEAUTITUDES"

Asbury Theological Seminary publishes a bi-monthly magazine called THE HERALD which comes to my home. While reading the latest issue I came across some interesting statements which I want to share with you. I do not know who is responsible for setting them down in writing, but they are quite worthy for us to consider whether we are ministers or laymen.
1. Blessed are you when you keep your mind on your tongue, always say less than you think. What and how you say it is important!
2. Blessed are you when you make promises sparingly and keep them faithfully at all costs.
3. Blessed are you when you never let an opportunity pass to say a word of kindness and encouragement to or about someone. Praise their good works. If criticism is needed, criticize helpfully, never spitefully.
4. Blessed are you when you are interested in others; their pursuits, their welfare, their name, their families. Rejoice with those who rejoice and keep with those who mourn. Respect each other as persons and each other's rights.
5. Blessed are you when you keep cheerful. Learn to smile. Keep the corners of your mouth turned up. Such a spirit is catching.
6. Blessed are you when you keep an open mind on debatable questions, discuss, not argue. It is a mark of superior minds that they are open to the possibility of being wrong.
7. Blessed are you when you are virtuous, if you have any, speak for yourselves and refuse to let others speak for you.
8. Blessed are you when you are careful of another's feelings. This is good taste.
9. Blessed are you when you get lost in doing good for others. This helps spread the joy of goodness.
10. Blessed are you when you are interested in others; their pursuits, their welfare, their name, their families. Rejoice with those who rejoice and keep with those who mourn. Respect each other as persons and each other's rights.

Alabama's U.S. Senator

Jim Allen Reports To The People

Defense Must Not Bear Entire Load As We Pare Fat From The Federal Budget

During the few weeks since President Ford's inauguration, Congress has been showing a hopeful move toward fiscal restraint. Just last week the Senate Appropriations Committee moved to cut away new and fancy spending programs and to pare fat from existing programs in an effort to meet a goal of cutting $10 billion from the overall budget, a goal which was set in a bill of which I am a co-sponsor.

One example of the Committee's action is its recommendation to cut $1.1 billion out of the request for funds for the Health, Education, and Welfare and Labor Departments. Although this represents only about a one percent reduction, it is important that the cuts were recommended at all for these departments which, in the past, have received more of the taxpayers money from the liberal spending in the Senate than last year. Yet the Senate committee was cutting the HEW and Labor requests by one percent, another subcommittee was slashing almost six percent out of the Department of Defense appropriation bill.

This is particularly disturbing when you realize that it would take $86 billion just to stay even with defense spending last year. Yet the Senate is asked by the Committee to reduce defense to $82 billion. I don't think that there is any question that there is fat in the Federal budget, even in the defense requests, and this fat should not be immune to the Congressional paring knife as we strive for economy in government. But it is imperative that we not reduce unduly our military posture to the point where our strength would not be a deterrent to our enemies.

During the past year liberal-ists have been highly critical of my efforts to prevent the Senate from legislating spending programs and fiscal policy by attaching non-germane amendments to bills on the Senate floor, thus by-passing the analysis, expertise and advice of the proper committees. Yet, during the past six fiscal years, those liberal spenders in Congress have added more than $40 billion to Federal spending by floor amendments.

An important part of the fight against inflation lies in the willingness of Congress to defer programs which are not desirable but which are not absolutely essential. The country cannot afford luxuries while striving to cope with the deadly disease of inflation.

But we cannot balance the budget just by taking the defense bill and saying we will take from defense whatever it takes to balance the budget. The first priority is the defense of our country. If we cannot defend our country, if we cannot preserve it, we cannot have the blessings of liberty and freedom that we enjoy today.

event. What are your thoughts on this? J.S., Birmingham

Sparkman: The President's resignation is a tragic thing but it is his own choice. It is a necessary result of events and deeds which he now recognizes as being wrong. It is a necessary result of the violations of additional taxes on August 5 causes many Congressional supporters of the President to become convinced of his irresponsibility and lack of integrity.

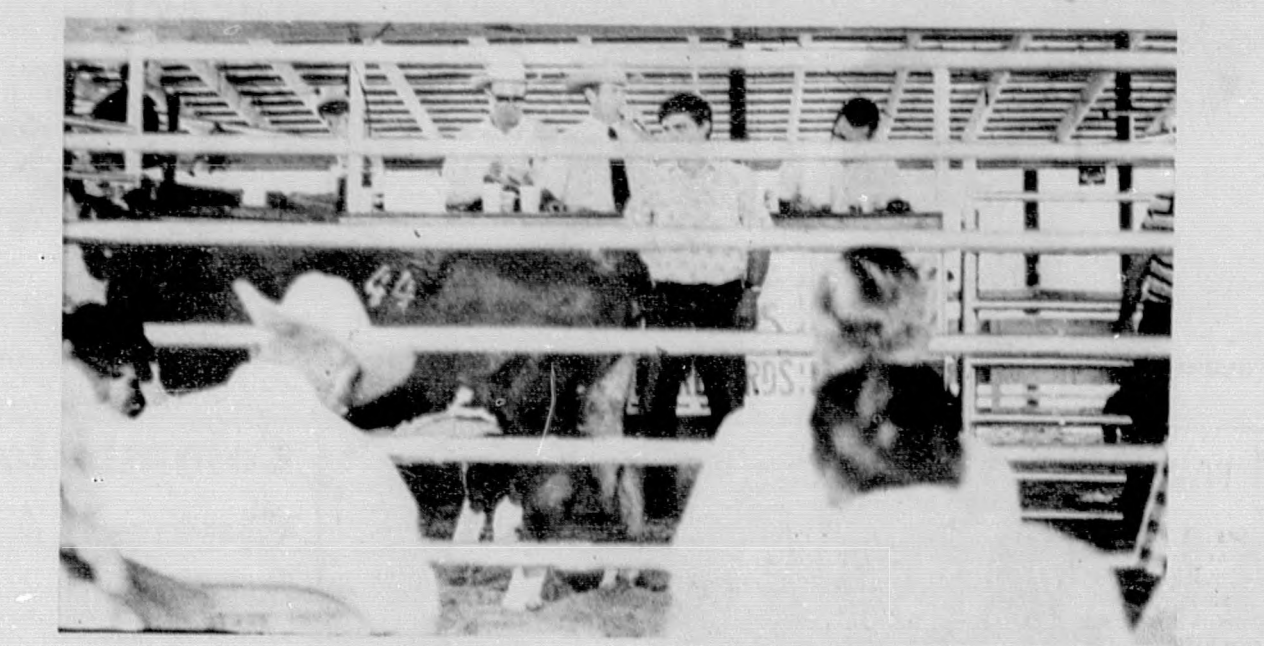

Sparkman: There has been no cutback in the area of student loans, but there is a problem. Under the federal insured student loan program, commercial banks are insured against default by the student; however, even though this is the case, many banks only make a limited number of commitments for such loans and once they lend the full amount of their commitment, they do not keep beyond this level. Such loans, I am told, are on a first come, first served basis and many students wait too late to apply for such loans.

The National Direct Student Loan Program is a loan system whereby each student financial aid office is allotted a fixed amount of Federal funds to be lent to students at 7%.

From the standpoint of the student, this is a bargain, but these funds only go so far and, as with the insured loan program, many students apply too late -- after the money supply has been exhausted.

Dear Senator Sparkman: I just want you to know that, in my opinion, the resignation of President Nixon was a

Progress Of Coffee County Soil Survey

The Coffee County Soil Survey maps of Coffee County since July, 1972. The party consists of two Soil Scientists--John Harris, and MacArthur Harris.

These soil scientists have been conducting two types of soil mappings in the county. Detail mapping, and Reconnaissance mapping. The detail mapping is used for moderate land-use planning--such as tentative guides for cropland planning, woodland planning, recreation areas, planning for housing and industry. However, detail mapping will not replace on-site investigation for specific types of land. Reconnaissance mapping is done in highly complex wooded areas that are difficult to map. This type of mapping should be used for a very broad scope of planning. During the period of July, 1972 through July, 1974 there have been 205,810 acres of detailed soil survey mapped, and 31,610 acres of reconnaissance mapping.

At present, 241,420 acres has been mapped, leaving a total of 191,860 remaining acres. Coffee County has a wide range of contrasting soils. Ranging from the red gullies in the southeast portion of the county to the yellowish red and yellow soils found in the central part of the county to the red clay, rolling hills in the northern portion of the county. Anyone desiring soils interpretation information for their property should contact the Soil Conservation Office in New Brockton.

SEED STORAGE
We get quite a few calls for information on protecting small quantities of beans, peas, popcorn, and watermelon seed from insect damage. Dr. Gene Strother at Auburn gives the following information on storing and treating these seeds:
1. Treat by fumigation. Sprinkle one teaspoon for a gallon jar. Put the seed in the jar. Close tightly for 72 hours. At the end of this period open and air thoroughly. Store in insect-proof, light jars or cans. Caution: Don't inhale the fumes from this material.
2. Treat by freezing. Place small container of seed in freezer. Hold in freezer for 7 days. Then store in insect-proof jars or cans.
3. Treat by heating. Place seed in warm oven. Set oven at 145 degrees and warm for 25-30 minutes. Store seed in light jar.

MILK PRICES
Many times consumers throughout the country complain about the price of milk. Have you ever noticed that the price of milk is higher than it was a few weeks ago? The reason for this is that the price of milk is higher than it was a few weeks ago. The reason for this is that the price of milk is higher than it was a few weeks ago.

SAFETY
This week is probably the most dangerous week in the school year for children. Several dozen school buses will be back on the road. Hundreds of extra cars will be on the roads delivering children to school. Farmers are getting into the harvest season, and their equipment ready for the harvest. People are using the highways. The harvest season is approaching, and many farmers are preoccupied with problems associated with lack of rainfall and the harvesting. Usually, accidents occur the first few days of the harvest season. People are driving long distances, so to speak, and they are tired. SHORTCOURSE
Last spring we had an estate planning program at the Enterprise State Junior College an estate planning and farm income tax short-course beginning in November. The dates are Tuesday night, November 5, Thursday night, November 7, and Tuesday night, November 12.

Each session will last about two hours. We have Dr. Julian Hollings and Mr. Charles Maddox from our Auburn staff to conduct the program. We will also be using some local tax experts to give us the benefit of their training and experience. We will give exact details on where the meeting will be later. Perhaps you will want to mark your calendar now for these dates. If you have questions, call me at 854-5056 or the Jr. College at 347-2623.

Tom Casaday, County Extension Chairman

Earl F. Kenamer, our fish and wildlife specialist at Auburn, wrote to me recently about controlling weeds in ponds with the herbicide, 2,4-D. The following is part of his letter. I am now convinced that the white amur is the best answer to biological control of weeds and floating algae. An 88-acre lake in one county was recently stocked with 10 pounds of white amur per acre, with fish about the size of a 4 pounder. The white amur is a small, round, yellowish fish with a white stripe along its side. It is a voracious eater and will eat almost anything it can get its mouth on. It is a very hardy fish and will survive in almost any type of water. It is a very good fish to have in a pond or lake. It will eat almost anything it can get its mouth on. Processing is the latest in a series of nine departments at MacArthur Technical College to offer the Associate in Applied Technology Degree. In addition to the regular course in the technical field, the offerings will be expanded tentatively to include Applied Psychology, Economics, Business Management, Algebra, Boolean Algebra, and Technical Writing.

Mr. Marvin McCullough, a graduate in Mathematics from Troy State University, heads the Data Processing Department. Before joining the MacArthur, Mr. McCullough was attached to the NASA computer program at Cape Kennedy. His background of training and experience provide high qualifications necessary for instruction in this program.

The job market in the area of data processing and computer programming is demanding. Employees who are not only highly skilled in the technical field, but who have also had training in related fields are in high demand. The MacArthur Technical College is preparing to meet this demand by offering a series of courses in data processing and computer programming.

Registration for the fall quarter is scheduled for September 9. In order for the prospective degree student to enroll in the related technical college courses for the fall quarter, it is recommended that he apply for admission at the earliest possible date.

Attention gardeners: Bring out your spade--it's time to get the ground ready for spring planting. You can expect the best results from established plants. However, they need dividing every two to five years. Plant iris in borders or flower beds and arrange them in triangles or clumps by variety or color. They will need dividing in late summer or early fall.

Prepare the bed for iris at least two weeks before planting. Have the soil tested and, if necessary, amend it. Finally, if the kitchen tends to become overcrowded during meal preparation time, change the situation. This may involve moving a work table to another area or moving a television set to another room.

Attention gardeners: Bring out your spade--it's time to get the ground ready for spring planting. You can expect the best results from established plants. However, they need dividing every two to five years. Plant iris in borders or flower beds and arrange them in triangles or clumps by variety or color. They will need dividing in late summer or early fall.

Prepare the bed for iris at least two weeks before planting. Have the soil tested and, if necessary, amend it. Finally, if the kitchen tends to become overcrowded during meal preparation time, change the situation. This may involve moving a work table to another area or moving a television set to another room.

Twenty-five and one-half percent of all United States households are headed by senior citizens, persons 60 years of age or older.

Hospital Service Attainment

Employees who had completed 10 years of service with Elba General Hospital and Elba Nursing Home were honored last Tuesday, August 13, 1974 for their dedication to this institution.

The children of Mrs. Eula McGowan, Marion White and Joan Elford, received the plaque in memory of their mother who had completed 10 years of service before her death. Flowers were placed in her church on Sunday, August 11, 1974, in memory of her.

Those who were honored on this special occasion were presented a plaque commemorating their tenure of service and a $25.00 Bond by Mr. James H. Nichols, Administrator.

The recipients were: Emily

Chamber Reports On Soaring Debt

The Alabama Chamber of Commerce reports that American taxpayers must shell out $55,000 per minute simply to pay the interest charges on the soaring national debt, which will pass the $500-billion mark for the first time this fiscal year.

The interest-nearly $1,000 per second-on all this borrowed money will cost $2.1 billion—equal to 85% of all corporate taxes collected this year.

Computer Courses At ESJC

Eighteen students have completed the required computer courses during the first year of the night computer science program at Enterprise State Junior College according to Joe Audrey, chairman, Business Division.

Audrey said the full computer programming, data processing and key punch program offered during the day was extended to nights last fall. "We felt that many persons working during the day might wish to enter the computer field," he said. "If they worked in the day, they could learn more about it. If they worked in the night, they could learn more about it."

Mr. and Mrs. Wilbur Warren Bullock, Jr. of Hattiesburg, Mississippi, announce the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter, Eleanor Carol, and Mr. Paul Charles McGuff, son of Dr. and Mrs. Paul Edward McGuff, of Saly, Texas.

The bride-elect is the granddaughter of Mr. John Franklin Brunson of Elba, and the late Leola Johnson Brunson; and Mrs. Wilbur Warren Bullock, Sr., of Columbia, Mississippi, and the late Mr. Bullock.

The prospective bride-groom is the grandson of the late Mr. and Mrs. Edward McGuff who lived in Indianapolis, Indiana; and the late Mr. and Mrs. Earl Daniel Camblin who lived in Prairie du Chen, Wisconsin.

Miss Bullock attended Hattiesburg city schools, Millsaps College in Jackson, Mississippi, and the University of South Mississippi in Hattiesburg.

Mr. McGuff graduated from the Napa High School, Napa, California, and attended Millsaps College in Jackson, Mississippi. He is presently serving as an arm in the United States Air Force, and is in electronics training at Keesler Air Force Base in Biloxi, Mississippi.

The wedding will take place at two o'clock on Sunday afternoon, September 8, at Universal Baptist Church in Hattiesburg.

Business Safety Investment High

U.S. industry is investing more than $3 billion to improve on-the-job health and safety this year, according to a McGraw-Hill Publications Company survey.

This is 2.5 per cent of total capital investment, McGraw-Hill pointed out.

Douglas Greenwald, chief economist, called spending on job health and safety "a relatively new area of large-scale capital spending outlays, which does not result in greater productivity in terms of actual facilities, but may result in some improvement in labor productivity."

Houseplants Make Good Home Decor

Recent trends and changes in living style in the United States have caused an increase in the use of houseplants for decorating homes, says Mrs. Sara Hutchinson, Coffee County Extension Home Agent.

Using plants inside buildings has become not only fashionable but necessary, says Mrs. Hutchinson. "Architects and interior decorators realize that plants create an atmosphere of warmth and life that adds to the home environment. Some plants, such as Chinese evergreen, jade plant, English ivy and wandering Jew, can be grown in water. And, among plants that will withstand the most adverse house conditions and abuse are philodendron, peperomia, rubber plants, dracaena and the snake plant. These plants are good choices for locations with poor light and low humidity. And they can add both beauty and atmosphere to your home with a minimum of care."

There are many plants, however, that can be grown under less than perfect conditions, adds Mrs. Hutchinson. Some plants, such as Chinese evergreen, jade plant, English ivy and wandering Jew, can be grown in water. And, among plants that will withstand the most adverse house conditions and abuse are philodendron, peperomia, rubber plants, dracaena and the snake plant. These plants are good choices for locations with poor light and low humidity. And they can add both beauty and atmosphere to your home with a minimum of care."

There are now many uses for plants in indoor landscaping. They range from extensive covered malls in shopping areas, through commercial and public building interiors to modern homes with large expanses of glass. And in older homes and apartments dish gardens and portable planters have become decorative design features.

With Ferdin Cox

We published a picture of a streaker this week in an ad for Tom's Drive In. When two of the ladies working here were making the picture and making up the ad—they fell in love with the little streaker! Kristi Oggs, daughter of Butch and Marsha Oggs apparently is a very co-operative model. Thank you Kristi on behalf of all of us.

I have fished all my life I reckon—beginning with a switch of a bush connected with a hook and line. However, it is my desire to have friends who are more productive with their fishing. I furnished my family with a mess of delicious fish—already dressed and cut into fillets, ready for frying. That is just what Jerry and Cecilia Paul did Monday and the Cox family went to bed with a full stomach one more time.

Last week I commented on President Ford's proposal to let the draft dodgers come home. Surprisingly one of the draft dodgers, now in Canada, is also against the plan. Apparently he wants a parade and a national holiday when he returns—cause of his heroic deed! I guess maybe they could give him my GI Bill benefits since I never have used any of them.

In case you have not had any dealings with Deputy Sheriff Ray Norris lately you probably don't know that he is now Chief Deputy Ray Norris. Ray will still be doing the same job, just getting more pay. Coffee County has been without a chief deputy since Neil Grantham resigned to go to his successful race for the Democratic nomination for sheriff.

I noticed the new uniforms of the Elba Tiger football team last week. They sure are pretty. It will probably take one of these super washing machines and some of that washing powder that works miracles once the boys have played a game on one of the muddy ball fields they are bound to see this Fall. Right now the uniforms look sharp enough for wearing to church or on a date when the boys want to impress someone with his fancy dress!

Had a long talk with Harry Jacobs Monday night. Harry is down on politicians, inflation, lazy people, etc. First he thinks ALL politicians are crooks—this he believes some by saying "Well maybe there is an honest one somewhere." Then he blames our government for the increasing cost of living. Maybe government is to be blamed for lazy people, etc. He blames on US, you, me and himself. Says we have come to think we have to have everything we can think of, and not the necessities our parents thrived on without crying. The opinion of Harry Jacobs is typical of the average American. We are confused and not sure what is the cause of our problems.

Whitman seconded by J. A. Dyess, the commission voted unanimously in favor of amending the budget on the items of concern.

The Commission voted to hire William B. Galloway to work on the landfill. This motion was made by O. V. Waters and seconded by Don Smith. The motion passed on a vote of five members in favor. Mr. Byron Galloway left the room and did not vote.

Commissioner O. V. Waters, requested that due to the changes that have been made in garbage pickup in Coffee County, individuals having property with this matter should contact the commissioner of their district.

At the time the law was passed in the 72nd Congress, which authorized the sinking of such ships for use as fishing reefs, there did not exist such a scarcity as we have seen in recent months. With the domestic and worldwide demand for scrap metal being what it is, your concern over the matter is indeed legitimate. In this regard, I have instructed a member of my staff to study the problem, with the objective of possibly modifying the existing law relating to the disposal of Liberty Ships. It is possible of course that artificial fishing reefs may be constructed from other types of discarded materials not now being reclaimed.

Dear Senator Sparkman: I violently object to the senseless sinking of Liberty Ships for use as fishing reefs at a time when our nation is fast running out of high grade iron ore and scrap steel. R. M. Birmingham.

Dear Senator Sparkman: It is shocking to find out that I am unable to obtain an insured student loan from my local bank, nor can I get a direct student loan from the financial aid office at the college I attend. In these programs, J. R. Auburn.

Dear Senator Sparkman: Now that you have expressed your desire to become Chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, I wonder if you could consider placing me on your staff as a foreign affairs specialist? J. P. Athens.

Dear Senator Sparkman: I just want you to know that, in my opinion, the resignation of President Nixon was a sad event. What are your thoughts on this? J. S., Birmingham.

Sparkman: The President's resignation is a tragic thing but in his own mind, apparently, a necessity resulting from events and deeds which he now recognizes as being wrong. The revelations of additional tapes on August 5 caused me, as congressional supporters of the President to become convinced of his involvement in the cover-up of Watergate and the obstruction of Justice. I regret to see all of this happen in our country, but I regret even more the fact which made resignation necessary.

Sparkman: There has been no cutback in the area of student loans, but there is a problem. Under the federal insured student loan program, commercial banks are insured against default by the student; however, even though this is the case, many banks only make a limited number of commitments for such loans and once they lend the full amount, they are out of the program. They do not go beyond this level. Such loans, I am told, are on a first come, first served basis and many students wait too late to apply for such loans.

The National Direct Student Loan Program is a loan system whereby each student financial aid office is allotted a fixed amount of Federal funds to be lent to students at 7%. From the standpoint of the student, this is a bargain, but these funds only go so far and, as with the insured loan program, many students apply too late—after the money supply has been exhausted.

The National Direct Student Loan Program is a loan system whereby each student financial aid office is allotted a fixed amount of Federal funds to be lent to students at 7%. From the standpoint of the student, this is a bargain, but these funds only go so far and, as with the insured loan program, many students apply too late—after the money supply has been exhausted.

Dear Senator Sparkman: I just want you to know that, in my opinion, the resignation of President Nixon was a sad event. What are your thoughts on this? J. S., Birmingham.

Sparkman: The President's resignation is a tragic thing but in his own mind, apparently, a necessity resulting from events and deeds which he now recognizes as being wrong. The revelations of additional tapes on August 5 caused me, as congressional supporters of the President to become convinced of his involvement in the cover-up of Watergate and the obstruction of Justice. I regret to see all of this happen in our country, but I regret even more the fact which made resignation necessary.

Sparkman: There has been no cutback in the area of student loans, but there is a problem. Under the federal insured student loan program, commercial banks are insured against default by the student; however, even though this is the case, many banks only make a limited number of commitments for such loans and once they lend the full amount, they are out of the program. They do not go beyond this level. Such loans, I am told, are on a first come, first served basis and many students wait too late to apply for such loans.

Alabama's U.S. Senator

Jim Allen Reports To The People

Defense Must Not Bear Entire Load As We Pave

Fast From The Federal Budget

During the few weeks since President Ford's inauguration, Congress has been showing a hopeful move toward fiscal restraint. Just last week the Senate Appropriations Committee moved to cut away new and fancy spending programs and to pare fat from existing programs in an effort to meet a goal of cutting $10 billion from the overall budget, a goal which was set in a bill of which I am a co-sponsor.

One example of the Committee's action is its recommendation to cut $1.1 billion out of the request for funds for the Health, Education, and Welfare and Labor Departments. Although this represents only about a one percent reduction, it is important that the cuts were recommended at all for these departments which, in the past, have received more of the taxpayers' money from the liberal spending in the Senate than was requested by the departments themselves.

But, while one subcommittee was cutting the HEW and Labor requests by one percent, another subcommittee was slashing almost six percent of the Department of Defense appropriation bill.

This is particularly disturbing when we realize that it would take $86 billion just to stay even with defense spending last year. Yet the Senate is asked by the Committee to reduce defense to $82 billion.

I don't think that there is any question that there is in the Federal budget, even in the defense requests, and this fact should not be immune to the Congressional paring knife as we strive for economy in government. But it is imperative that we not reduce unduly our military posture to the point where our strength would not be a deterrent to our enemies.

During the past year liberalists often have been highly critical of my efforts to prevent the Senate from legislating spending programs and fiscal policy by attaching non-germane amendments to bills on the Senate floor, thus by-passing the analysis, expertise and advice of the proper committees.

Yet, during the past six years, those liberalists, those spenders in Congress have added more than $40 billion to Federal spending by floor amendments. That is what I have been opposing and will continue to oppose.

An important part of the fight against this is the willingness of Congress to defer programs which may be desirable but which are not absolutely essential. The country cannot afford luxuries while striving to cure the deadly disease of inflation.

But we cannot balance the budget just by taking the defense bill and saying we will turn down from defense what we take to balance the budget.

The first priority is the defense of our country. If we cannot preserve it, we cannot have the blessings of liberty and freedom that we enjoy today.

Dear Senator Sparkman: I violently object to the senseless sinking of Liberty Ships for use as fishing reefs at a time when our nation is fast running out of high grade iron ore and scrap steel. R. M. Birmingham.

Progress Of Coffee County Soil Survey

The Coffee County Soil Survey Party has been making soil maps of Coffee County since July, 1972. The party consists of two Soil Scientists—Joel Childs, and MacArthur Harris.

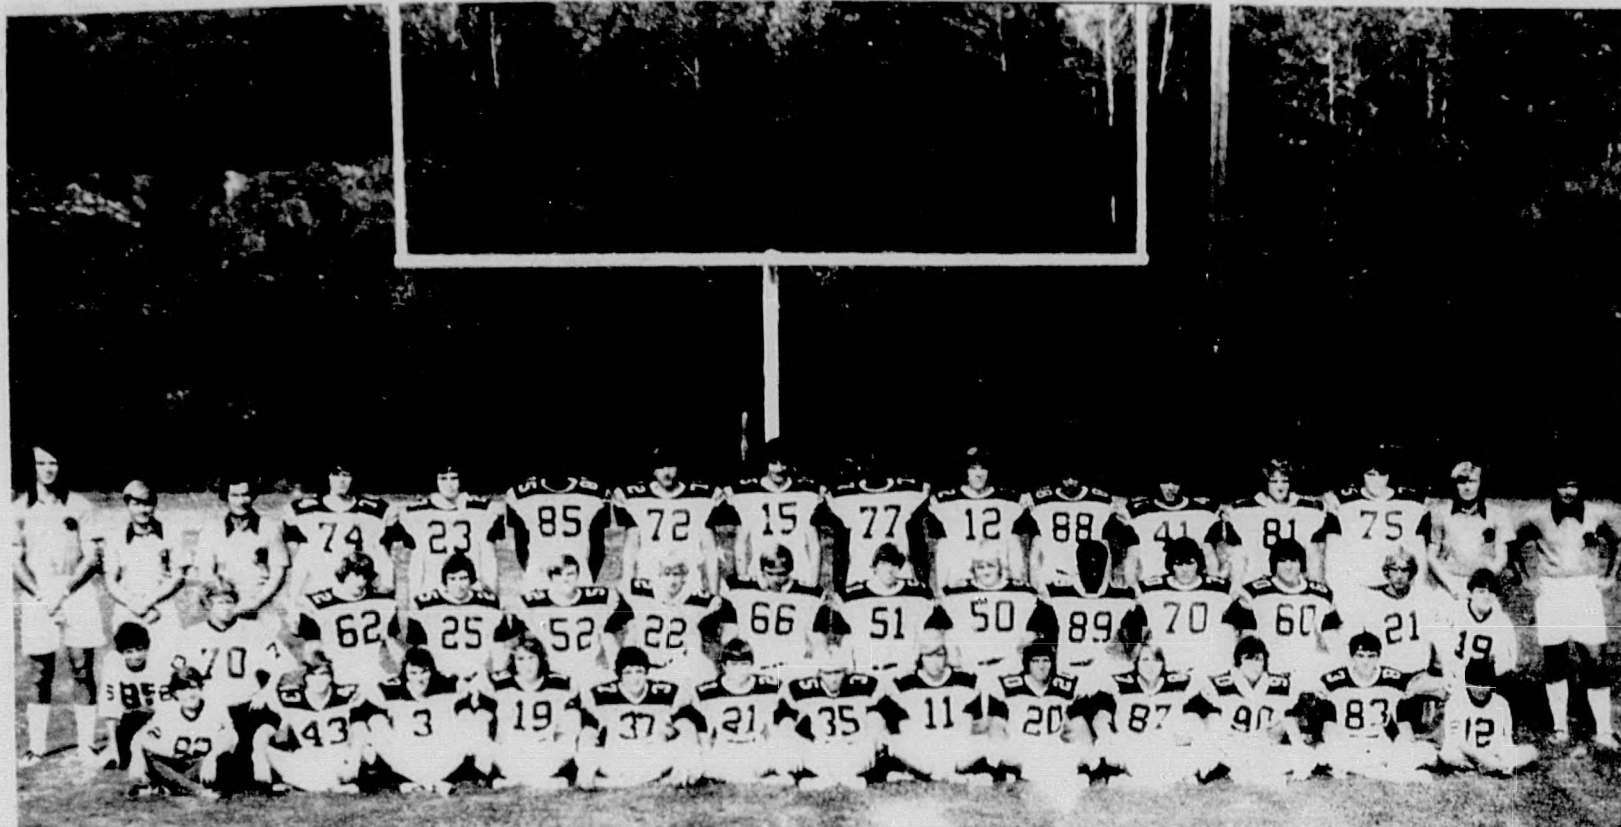

These soil scientists have been conducting two types of soil mappings in the county. Detail mapping, and reconnaissance mapping. The detail mapping is used for moderate planning—such as site planning, recreation areas, planning for housing and industry. However, detail mapping will not replace on-site investigation for specific plots of land. Reconnaissance mapping is done in highly complex wooded areas that are difficult to map. This type of mapping should be used for a very broad scope of planning. During the period of July, 1972 through July, 1974 there has been 207,810 acres of detailed soil survey mapped, and 31,610 acres of reconnaissance mapping.

At present, 241,420 acres has been mapped, leaving a total of 191,860 remaining acres. Coffee County has a wide range of contrasting soils. Ranges from the red gulling red and yellow soils found in the central part of the county to the red clayey, rolling hills in the northern portion of the county. Anyone desiring soil interpretation information for their property should contact the Soil Conservation Office in New Brockton.

Zion Chapel Aims For Play-Offs

John Frank Hudson, head football coach at Zion Chapel High School, and his coaching staff are looking forward to the upcoming football season with great anticipation and it's not hard to see why. The Rebels have 16 lettermen returning and seem to be ready to improve greatly on their 6-4 record in 1973.

Although graduation did leave several holes in the backfield, Coach Hudson expressed only mild concern over the problem. Coach Hudson said,

"Although several boys will be playing new positions, the boys do have the experience necessary to step in and handle the job. The only problem Coach Hudson seemed worried about was the lack of depth. If injuries hit us very hard it could be disastrous," mused Hudson.

The Rebels strong point appears to be their defense. The defensive unit returns seven starters and should be very strong on allowing points.

Offensively, the Rebels will be led by qb Richard Adair, a poised senior, and Willie "Jet" Moultrie, a "sparkplug" of a half-back with speed and power. If the Rebel starters remain healthy, the Zion Chapel fans could be seeing one of the top 1A schools in the state.

Bama To Host 75 Cage Play-off

For the second straight year the University of Alabama will host an NCAA basketball tournament event.

The U. of Alabama has been named as the site of a first-round double-header on Saturday, March 15, 1975.

The NCAA has adopted a new tournament format whereby its university division will have a 32-team bracket. This means that the major conference champions will not draw first-round byes.

The winners of the first-round double-header at Alabama will advance to the Midwestern regional in Dayton, against the winners of the Kentucky double-header.

Chamber Reports On Soaring Debt

The Alabama Chamber of Commerce reports that American taxpayers must shell out $55,000 per minute simply to pay the interest charges on the soaring national debt, which will pass the $500-billion mark for the first time this fiscal year.

The interest-nearly $1,000 per second-on all this borrowed money will cost $27.1 billion—equal to 65% of all corporate taxes collected this year.

Lights On For Safety On Labor Day

State Public Safety Director, Colonel E. C. Doherty, announced recently the sponsorship of a "Lights on for Safety" campaign during the Labor Day Week.

The campaign is to encourage safe driving on Alabama highways during the holiday in a last ditch effort to prevent bloodshed as a result of automobile collisions.

The symbol of safety will be the burning headlights, and motorists throughout the State are being asked to turn their lights while in motion from 6:00 p.m. to 8:00 p.m. on Friday, August 30th, and Saturday, August 31st, as a positive step toward greater highway safety.

"If every highway user is conscious of their burning headlights in the 'Lights on for Safety' campaign, they will automatically be reminded of their personal obligation to drive safely," Colonel Doherty said.

"Our traffic fatalities have shown a significant decline so far this year," the Director said, "and a conscientious public effort will assure the continued reduction of deaths on our public highways."

"And," he concluded, "the 'Lights on for Safety' is another means of reminding motorists to drive with care."

NEWS from your PHARMACIST

By KRIS SCAR, BOROUGH

Many persons suffer from some form of dandruff. This common, and annoying condition, is an inflammation of the scalp. There are two distinct types of dandruff, and the other is only dandruff. Both are the excessive production of oil by the oil glands.

If the oil secretion evaporates quickly, a condition known as dry dandruff results. Only dandruff is the result of the oil staying on the scalp and in the hair, causing greasy hair. Scaling of the scalp is common to both types of dandruff and is a warning signal to begin treatment.

We have a number of preparations which are designed to alleviate dandruff. Let us take care of all your medicinal needs. Your health is the primary concern of our pharmacists.

Business Safety Investment High

U.S. industry is investing more than $3 billion to improve on-the-job health and safety this year, according to a McGraw-Hill Publications Company survey.

This is a 2.5 per cent of total capital investment, McGraw-Hill pointed out.

Douglas Greenwald, chief economist, called spending on job health and safety "a relatively new area of large-scale capital spending outlays, which does not result in greater productive capacity in terms of actual facilities, but may result in some improvement in labor productivity."

Recent trends and changes in living style in the United States have caused an increase in the use of houseplants as decorations, notes Mrs. Hutchinson. "However, since less thought may have been given to decorating with plants indoors when these structures were designed, the choice of good locations for plants may be more limited."

There are many plants, however, that can be grown under less than perfect conditions, adds Mrs. Hutchinson. Some plants, such as Chinese, evergreen, jade plant, English ivy and wandering Jew, can be grown in water. And, among plants that will withstand the most adverse house conditions and abuse are philodendron, peperomia, rubber plants, dracaena and the snake plant. These plants are good choices for locations with poor light and low humidity. And they can add both beauty and atmosphere to your home with a minimum of care.

Mrs. Hutchinson explains that there are now many uses for plants in indoor landscaping. They range from extensive covered malls in shopping areas, through commercial and public building interiors to modern homes with large expanses of glass. And in older homes and apartments dish gardens and portable plants have become decorative design features.
